TURKS, ROUSED BY WAR, MENACE CHRISTIANS; BEDOUINS MASSING MILLIONS OF MOHAMMEDANS MAY BE DRAWN INTO FANATICAL FIGHT

GREECE AND ITALY WILL PROBABLY JOIN ALLIES AS RESULT OF TURKISH ACTION

AMBASSADORS LONG AGO WARNED PORTE THAT IF TURKEY ENTERED WAR MEDITERRANEAN FLEETS WOULD BOMBARD PORTS OF ASIA MINOR—EFFECT OF EXCITEMENT UPON MOSLEMS OF INDIA IS PROBLEMATIC—TURKISH DESTROYERS SHELL TWO PORTS, SINKING RUSSIAN VESSEL

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30.—Developments caused by the sudden entry of Turkey into the European war are far-reaching. The action of the Turco-German cruisers Breslau and Goeben in taking the offensive against Russia involves not only the Balkan states but Greece and Italy, Asia and Africa and perhaps India.

The ambassadors representing the nations of the Allies at Constantinople long ago warned Turkey that if she entered the war the Mediterranean fleets would bombard the ports of Asia Minor.

Greece and Italy will probably join the Allies.

The Balkan states will be drawn into active war, almost without a doubt.

The conflict will possibly extend to Egypt, Persia and Arabia. Its effect upon the millions of Moslems in India, because of the possibility of a "holy war," is problematical.

CHRISTIANS ARE THREATENED

LONDON, England, Oct. 30.—Great demonstrations are being made in Damascus against the Christians, especially the Britons.

Bedouins are massing on the Egyptian frontier.

London Suggests Turkey May Seek to Throw Blame on Germany

LONDON, England, Oct. 30.—It is suggested in official circles that Turkey may disavow responsibility for the bombardment of various ports and ships of the Allies when she learns the opinions of the Allies regarding the situation. Perhaps Turkey may throw the onus for her acts upon the German commanders of the warships Breslau and Goeben.

German Losses in West Arena Are Terrific, Says News Despatch

LONDON, England, Oct. 30.—A Reuter's despatch today says:

"Today's news from the front is excellent. Several points of extra strategic importance are occupied.

"The Allies are making progress along the entire front. The German losses are terrific."

Cavalry Begins to Appear on South of Suez Canal Route

LONDON, England, Oct. 30.—Strong Turkish cavalry divisions are reported at the Gulf of Abakah, south of the Suez canal.

The entire fleet is said to have left the Black Sea.

Turkish Destroyers Are Busy

PETROGRAD, Russia, Oct. 30.—It is learned that in addition to the naval activity already reported as carried out by the Turkish and Turco-German vessels, destroyers have shelled the cities of Novorossiysk and Odessa, sinking the Russian destroyer and damaging the French merchantman Portugal.

Cablegram To Rodiek Tells Of Turks' Work

Georg Rodiek, German consul for Hawaii, received the following cablegram today from official German sources:

"Turkey opened hostilities in Black Sea. The Goeben sunk two Russian steamers at Kertsch. The Breslau bombarded Feodosia. The Turkish cruiser Hamidieh demanded the surrender of Novorossiysk. A Turkish torpedo boat sunk Russian gunboat at Odessa. The Russian ambassador has left Constantinople."

INTERNATIONAL LAW INTRODUCED IN LOCAL TRIAL

Carl Spaeth Makes Answer to Charges Brought by Representatives of Syndicate

Bringing up an interesting point of international law, an answer in abatement in the case of the Pacific Phosphate Company against Carl Spaeth, asking that the case be dismissed, was filed in the circuit court at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the attorneys for the defendant. The answer, in settling forth the defendant's reasons why the case should be dismissed, says that on account of the fact that the defendant is of German descent and the company an English corporation, and that Germany and England now are at war, the company has no right to sue Spaeth for the reason that the contract which Spaeth entered into with the company is suspended owing to the war.

In addition to the answer in abatement the attorneys for Spaeth have filed a motion to dissolve the injunction, a motion to vacate and set aside the order, and a motion to probate and dismiss the action, these being based on the alleged facts in the answer, and the affidavit filed when the matter first came up.

In the answer in abatement, it is stated that in October, 1913, Spaeth entered into a contract with the Pacific Phosphate Company, a British corporation, wherein the defendant was employed by the company for a term of three years in connection with the business of the company at the island of Nauru. The defendant, being a German, the company also agreed to return the defendant to his home in Ulm, Germany, upon the expiration of the contract. It appears that Spaeth has lost his copy of this contract, and alleges that the only duplicates of it are in Germany and in England.

On September 2, 1914, says the answer, the defendant was directed

London Times Says Turk Will Be Relegated to Back Valleys

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, England, Oct. 30.—The London Times today says:

"The Allies are quite ready for Turkey. By her foolish yielding to war at Germany's instigation she pronounced her own doom. The Ottoman empire in Europe will soon be merely a memory. Syria, Arabia and Mesopotamia will likewise be freed. The Turk will be relegated to the obscure valleys of Asia Minor."

Turkey's Army Not in Best Shape; Navy Expected to be Effective

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30.—Military experts point out that the Turkish artillery is weak and that this and other branches of the service have not been repaired since the losses of the Balkan war. The regular Turkish infantry numbers 300,000, the irregulars about 400,000, most of these being stationed in Asia.

The significance of Turkey's entry into the war is believed to be mostly along the lines of naval maneuvering and fighting.

Russia Wild With Excitement Over Chance of Fight Against Turkey

PETROGRAD, Russia, Oct. 30.—The Russian capital today seethed with the greatest excitement it has known since the day that Germany declared war on Russia and a general European conflict became a certainty.

The Turkish embassy is strongly guarded against menacing crowds which threaten it. Public opinion welcomes the opportunity to settle the "eastern question" forever.

Russian Ambassador and Consuls Quit Turkey Following Outbreak

LONDON, England, Oct. 30.—The Russian ambassador at Constantinople has been withdrawn. The consuls have been ordered to leave.

Inspector Conway to Decide Whether Kukui Stays in Local Waters

Whether the lighthouse tender Kukui is to be left in Hawaiian waters, or whether the vessel will be taken away, will depend on the report to be made by Deputy Lighthouse Commissioner John S. Conway, now on a tour of inspection of the 19th district. The official has been here for several days, looking into the workings of the district. He expects to leave for the coast on the Siberia next Tuesday.

This is Mr. Conway's first visit to Hawaii and he has been kept busy with routine matters. This morning he and Inspector Arledge, in charge of the local district, visited the Honolulu harbor lighthouse and were in conference for some time.

The presence of the Kukui is of considerable importance to local shipping, and adds greatly to the importance of the 19th lighthouse district. The removal of the tender would be disadvantageous to Hawaii, and might impair the efficiency of the service here, as a number of lights on the outside islands are difficult of access.

MORANHA GIVEN $2014

A suit for damages which recently was commenced in the circuit court by Mounted Officer Manuel Moranha against William L. Welsh, was brought to a speedy conclusion this afternoon when Circuit Judge W. J. Robinson decided in favor of Moranha to the extent of $2014. In his original petition Moranha asked that the court allow him $5514.

Early on the morning of July 16, while riding along Kalakaua avenue, near the point where the streetcar turns to cross the marsh, Moranha was struck by an automobile driven by William Welsh and containing several other passengers.

The horse was killed and Moranha thrown off and seriously injured. He was more than two months recovering from his injuries.

MOANALUA FIELD HELD DANGEROUS FOR THE BIRDMEN

City Attorney's Office Stops Japanese Aviators' Plans to Fly Tomorrow

Aviators F. Samura and T. Inouye, skilled Japanese aviators who have been trained in America, cannot fly at Moanalua field tomorrow afternoon.

A letter written from the city and county attorney's office about noon today declines to allow the Japanese aviators to proceed with their plans for a series of biplane flights at the polo grounds. It is pointed out that these grounds are particularly risky for this purpose. The sudden and shifting currents of wind caused by the "draw" through mountain gulches is such that any ascent is dangerous, and the city and county authorities are unwilling to allow the birdmen to risk their lives and the lives of spectators by the flights tomorrow.

Deputy Attorney Brown, stating today that the flight could not take place, said that the aviators would be immediately notified from his office.

"The flights are too dangerous and, knowing they are dangerous, we have decided to prohibit them," he said.

The aviators had made every provision to comply with various laws and rules, including the getting of a permit from the sheriff and arranging for a license to hold the exhibition.

When Bud Marx, the noted American birdman, was here several years ago he made a flight at Moanalua field, but on reaching the ground declared that he would never attempt that ascent again because of its extreme danger. The army aviators who were here recently also found the flights very risky.

JEFF M'CARN IS AGAIN ON STAND IN OWN DEFENSE

Defendant Gives His Version of Affray With McBride in Federal Building

Taking the witness stand in his own defense in Judge William L. Whitney's court, United States District Attorney Jeff M'Carn, charged with an assault with a dangerous weapon, this morning related his version of his affair with Attorney Claudius H. McBride in the corridor of the federal building on the afternoon of May 5. The direct examination was conducted by Attorney J. Alfred Magoon, the last of the array of lawyers with which the district attorney commenced both the first and the retrial. It was stated again today by the defense that it will close its case Monday.

Telling a story which differed materially from that set forth by the witnesses for the prosecution, Mr. M'Carn contended that he acted in self-defense. He did not call to McBride in the hallway that afternoon, he said, and would not have called to him, until he heard one of the members of McBride's party make a stirring remark concerning him. It was then, he said, that he warned McBride that he would hold him responsible for what ever he (McBride) said in court in the future. The district attorney said that McBride had called him a "mental and physical cripple," and that he replied, "and every time you say that, you are a lying son of a bitch."

McCarn then was struck by McBride and grasped from behind and pulled to the floor, the witnesses added. The district attorney testified that he did not pull his revolver until he was on his back on the floor, with McBride on top of him. He added that he thought himself in immediate physical danger, and decided that he would be justified in defending himself with his gun. He was being kicked and beaten, he said. Lying down on the floor, revolver in hand, McCarn reacted his part in the affair.

CONKLING QUILTS OFFICE AT PINKHAM'S DIRECTION; SAYS BOND SALES ARE ENDANGERED

Territorial Treasurer Writes Out His Resignation and Accompanies it With Statement—Says Reluctant to Leave Post Now Because of Legal Ruling Which May Invalidate Sale of Hawaii's Securities

D. L. Conkling, treasurer of the territory, will retire from office tomorrow at the summary direction of Governor Pinkham.

In a letter to the governor today, answering the governor's order that Conkling get out of office tomorrow, the treasurer declares that his retirement at this time may invalidate recent sales of territorial bonds. He says that any bond sales negotiated by himself would be invalid unless delivery of the bonds was made during his incumbency in office, according to the opinion of the New York law firm which represents the territory.

"However," adds Conkling's letter to the governor, "you and your attorney-general, after being notified by me in the matter, appear to be willing to take the responsibility and I therefore comply with your request."

WHAT GOVERNOR SAYS.

Speaking on the bond matter, the governor states: "Fifty thousand dollars worth of the bonds Mr. Conkling questioned were paid for and interest adjusted on October 22, and the act performed by him was by him as treasurer, and the physical delivery of the bonds, a clerical act, is all that remains to be done."

"Evidently Mr. Conkling has failed to differentiate between what might have happened if he had died in the hospital before he had signed the bonds."

"However, Dillon, Thomson & Clay, the territory's New York attorneys, have been cabled to pass upon the fact as first stated above."

Developments in the treasurer's office have been coming rapidly. Several days ago the Star-Bulletin published the fact that there was a possibility that Conkling would not quit office on October 31 to make way for Col. C. J. McCarthy. He felt that his office was being used for political purposes, and that the entire list of positions under the territorial treasury would be turned over to the mercies of Democratic politics.

Yesterday Col. McCarthy resigned as city and county treasurer and his deputy, M. H. Drummond, was named treasurer to serve during the next two months, that is, until the new city administration comes in on January 1.

This morning a story was published that Conkling refused to quit his office, but this was soon shown to be incorrect when Conkling sent his resignation to the governor.

The governor, Col. McCarthy and Conkling were in conference in the governor's office this morning, but nothing was given out as a result of this meeting except the news of Conkling's letter to the governor commenting on the bond sale situation.

The peculiarities of the affair are heightened by the fact that Conkling is running for city and county treasurer on the Republican ticket and the election is next Tuesday. Long ago Conkling had determined to quit office when Col. McCarthy was formally ready to succeed him, but those who have heard the various stories say that Conkling's attitude now is due to his belief that too much politics is being played with the territorial office.

In political circles today it was said that Conkling will gain heavily in his race for office by the circumstances under which he retires from the territorial position.

The two letters the treasurer sent to the governor are as follows:

Letter of Resignation.
Honolulu, Hawaii,
October 30, 1914.

Honorable L. E. Pinkham,
Governor of the Territory of Hawaii, Honolulu, Hawaii.

Sir: I hereby tender to you my resignation as treasurer of the Territory of Hawaii, to take effect at the close of business on October 31, A. D. 1914.

Very respectfully,
D. L. CONKLING.

Sets Forth Bond Situation.
Honolulu, Hawaii, Oct. 30, 1914.

Honorable Lucius E. Pinkham,
Governor of the Territory of Hawaii, Honolulu, Hawaii.

Sir:—I am in receipt of your letter (Continued on page two)
